Several interesting and important facts are brought to light in tables I and II. Stratham's local schools, that is, the first six grades in the system, contained last year an enrollment considerably greater than for any year since 1919-1920, when it was only five larger. A similar increase occurred also in grades seven to twelve. In the year 1930-1931 the total enrollment in all grades from one through twelve was 107; in the year 1931-1932 that figure rose to 133. So far in the current year the figure is 128. In a time of depression you are faced with providing education for an enrollment increased by 20 to 30. The added burden in the first six grades is not great because overhead expense is not greatly increased by a moderate increase in numbers, but if the present numbers prevail for several years more, your expense for high school and junior high school tuition must become much greater; it has already begun to mount. It may be safely said, I think, that a large part of this increased enrollment results from what seems to be a more or less general movement from city to country. School districts in this vicinity, being attractive rural regions near moderately large cities, all note the same move. The very depression, which stimulates in us all a desire to keep expense down, produces an additional load in these districts, at least until by increased property values or otherwise the new inhabitants increase the tax revenue. State aid for high school tuition is being discussed, even recommended, in some quarters, to meet this situation.

Our local pupils enjoy the benefits which come only from several years of service by a corps of efficient teachers of experience. The value of this service can hardly be over emphasized. Our young pupils grow up in this healthy atmosphere developing the right sort of attitude toward school and life as they go. Last year produced the usual good results and the current year's work and training are of the same high order.

I call to your attention the report of the School Nurse's activities last year. Mrs. Dolbec has been very faithful in her examinations and in the follow up work in the homes, often doing more in the individual cases than could reasonably be required of her.

Your solicitous care of the buildings and your prompt attention to minor repairs as need has arisen have added greatly to the efficiency and comfort of the schools, for a clean, warm school house showing no neglected damages has a pronounced influence for good.

Stratham pupils continue to do well, some of them continue even to excell in their high school work and their college work. There is abundant evidence also that a considerable number of Stratham sons and daughters now high in profession or vocation were helped to these careers by our local schools, supplementing, as we hope they always will, the nurture obtained in that great basis of American social life, the good home.

To have a share in this process and to feel, as I constantly do, the interest of all parents, teachers and school officers is a privilege for which I offer public expression of my appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

CLIFTON A. TOWLE,

Superintendent of Supervisory Union No. 16.

Exeter, N. H.
